

Who We Are

Founded in 1995, by father and son team Fred McCain, and Dr. Ric McCain, as a fully self-supporting recovery residence, The Turning Point of SC provides transitional housing, job training and placement, security and transportation for people recovering from addiction.

Our Mission

Our mission is to provide a structured and secure residential setting in which men may recover from addiction physically, mentally and spiritually, reconnect with their families and community and regain self-respect and self-reliance.

Our History

Operating for over 21 years, we have become fully self-supporting because Turning Point residents pay a weekly program fee from their wages, enhancing each man's self-worth and dignity. We have evolved from a group of nine townhouses, housing 40 residents, to a federally recognized non-profit entity at our present location in Greenville County which now cares for over 150 recovering addicts. Most of our staff live onsite and are graduates of our program.

Our Goal is to help you eliminate the roadblocks that are keeping you from starting a new life, and enable you to live self-supported without alcohol or other drugs.

About Us

Turning Point is a nonprofit, private facility Addiction Recovery facility operated in Greenville, South Carolina since 1995. Our 100-room residential setting allows individuals to live and learn in a safe, drug and alcohol free environment where everyone else is also in Recovery.

As a “Working Man’s Recovery House,” we help with finding employment and provide transportation for work and errands. Residents work in regular jobs off site, go to meetings, and are allowed to pay as they go for the Program. We believe recovery is contingent upon becoming self-supporting through our own contributions.

Our doors remain open without regard to a person’s initial ability to pay, and over six thousand men have been offered a new start in life.

The Turning Point of South Carolina is a non-profit organization, organized under the laws of the state of South Carolina, and fully qualified by the IRS under section 501(c)3 as a charitable, tax deductible organization. We are certified by the National Alliance for Recovery Residences (narronline.org).

Program Model

Our recovery program for men consists of a 14-day probationary period and a phased ongoing program that is evaluated individually. After at least 90 days, the individual can expect to move forward with a job, some savings, clean time, and tools to stay clean. The residents may stay in the program as long as they desire, obeying our rules and guidelines.

Our social and residential program relies heavily on the 12-Step programs of Alcoholics Anonymous and Narcotics Anonymous. Progress thru the Turning Point phases will come from a commitment to the recovery program, reaching your goals and accepting responsibility.

Our Program

Harmony House is a 26 bed home-like setting that provides the opportunity for women to live and learn in a safe, drug and alcohol free environment.

As a “Working Woman’s Recovery House” we help secure employment and provide transportation for work and errands. Residents work at jobs in the community and attend AA/NA meetings daily.

Our doors remain open without regard to a person’s initial ability to pay. Residents are allowed to pay for their program from their own earnings. We teach accountability and self-reliance as our residents grow through our phased program. We believe recovery is contingent upon becoming self-supporting through our own contributions.

Our Mission

At Harmony House, our mission is to provide a structured and secure residential setting where women can recover from addiction physically, mentally and spiritually, regain self-respect and self-reliance, and reconnect with their families and community.

Our History

The Turning Point of South Carolina was founded in 1995 by father and son team Mr. Fred McCain and Dr. Frederic ‘Ric’ McCain. Operating under the same principles for over 25 years, we have helped our residents focus on Recovery, Work and Community. We are a federally recognized non-profit 501(c)3 organization.

At Harmony House, our goal is to assist suffering alcoholics and drug addicts with their recovery from addiction by removing obstacles and providing support.
